The revenue is so much an affair of War, that for our army and navy and to the cost of old wars. Though light against desperate odds, and with it we are alrevenue returns for the quarter, and the proof they ford that war has not hitherto interfered, to any serious extent with our previous unprecedented pros-

The present position of the revenue, and the alterations bearing on the comparisons made in the quartorly statement, are familiar to our readers, though sometimes conveniently forgotten by partisan writers. There is not a considerable branch of the revenue that was not dealt with last year so seriously as to bring the imputation of foolhardiness on our liberal and courageous Chancellor of the Exchequer. Tea, sugar, stamps of various kinds, assessed taxes. soap, have been the subjects of great and immediate reductions of the revenue, to be replaced only by the slow operation of the Irish Income tax and succes. sion duty. For the revenue not to have fallen very seriously under these attacks is equivalent to a great increase under other circumstances. That is the agreeble state of things proved by the statement be-

In the customs of the quarter there is a decrease of 367,494 Less could hardly be expected when it is considered that, besides reductions on more than a hundred lesser articles in the budget of 1853, the duty on tea has now undergone its second reduction to 1s. 6d. a pound. In the excise the dec: ease is 171,-609, the immense revenue from soap having been abolished in the course of the twelve month. In both customs and excise it must be observed that the quarter with which the comparison is made was, for certain fiscal reasons, unusually productive. Notwithis an increase of 30,485 in this branch of the revenue.

The very extensive educations in the assessed taxes have led to a decrease of only £74,556. The property tax, now augmented by the gradual and tardy receipts from the succession tax produces £48,567 more than appeared on this head for this quarter last year. In the Post Office, the variations of which are perhaps too much owing to matters of account and other temporary causes to tell one way or another. s an increase of £128,000; and in crown lands. last year by £577,144; and, when extraordinary tems are taken into account, the total decrease is

So much for the quarter; and if our readers were shown more encouraging results, they might conclude that at this rate there would be a decrease of two or er. three millions on the whole year just ended. On the contrary, the decrease on the whole year is much £450,524; an the Excises, £435,336; on Taxes, other hand, on the Stamps of the year there is an increase of £48,076, on the Property and Succession Taxes, £435,165; and on the Post Office, £166,000. which, when the extraordinary items are taken into account, becomes £474,369.

It is not to be expected that a revenue should always be actually increasing in spite of the most lavish reductions, in spite of a war with fifty millions of our customers, in spite of a general apprehension of approaching difficulties and expense, and present crisis of affairs. The west end shopkeepers veneration for Washington. says the season has been a bad one, and they account for it by saying that gentlemen and ladies whose would hardly surmise that he saw any marks of demession, even in the more fashionable quarters, as compared with former seasons. The last return of the Board of Trade of which we gave the principal and expenditure, the two measures of material prosmanufacture we are still producing more than ever, and finding new customers to make up for the temporary absence of the old.

It is not to be disguised that war has, and must have, injurious effects on the employment and comshould not affect those out of the range of its immediate operations. Mankind must not expect to arm one against the other, and to pollute the earth and and a large army have left our shores, and we daily unpopularity of this bill. expect to hear the dread tipings of sanguinary collisions, yet trade, manufactures, the markets, the revenue, seem to go on as if nothing were the matter. The fabric of our industrial and commercial system is too strong to give way at the first blast of war .-So far from there being any panic, or even distrust, there is only too much confidence, and such "war wish to press upon the sceptical-at least free trade $300,000. has not prevented prosperity under circumstances usually found so adverse.

LIPPITT'S SPECIFIC.

FOR THE CURE OF Dysentery, Diarrhen, and Summer Complaint. N presenting this justly celebrated Medicine to the public, we make no rash assertions of its efficacy, nor is any ope held out to the afflicted which facts do not warrant. This remedy having been for years used in this place, for the cure of the above diseases, and those appertaining to the same class, the Proprietor has been induced to offer it on a more extensive scale, with a view to lessen the amount of human suffering. I have never known it to fail when the directions have been strictly adhered to. Many useless nostrums have been palmed upon the public.

hesitated for some time, until thoroughly convinced Certificates. Extract of a letter received from S. J. Carroll: BALTIMORE, Jan. 10th, 1853. WM. H. LIPPITT, Esq., - Dear Sir :- I have no hesitation in saying that your Specific is one of the best medicines extant for Dysentery, Diarrha, &c. You possibly may recollect my case; if it has escaped your memory, I will give you briefly the facts. I had tried everything that I had seen used, but with little success; and after using enough to start twenty-five Homeopathic M. Ds., I began to despair, when you kindly offered me your invaluable Medicine, which cured me most effectually. Yours, truly,

WILMINGTON, N. C., August 14, 1851. WM. H. LIPPITT, Esq.,-Dear Sir:-I-have used your Specific in two cases in my family for Dysentery. In one 4 apspoonsful effected a complete cure—in the other, three and the like effect. Respectfully, &c., THOS. LORING, Ed. Commercial

WM. H. LIPPITT, Esq ,-Dear Sir :- It is with pleasure I state that I have used your Specific for the cure of Dysentebelongs to a man by the name of Jackson May, of Nash county, N. C. The owner is notified to come forward, prove has arrived has changed hands at above figure. The receipts of the will be dealt with as the county and the sales for the week and the week and the sales for the week and J. B. SEAVY, M D. SAVANNAH, Ga., December 26, 1851.

MR. WM. H. LIPPITT, -Dear Sir:-It is with pleasure I acknowledge the wonderful effects of your Medicine for curing Diarhoea or Bowel Complaints, as I am satisfied it was the means, under God of saving the life, first of my Child, and then of my Brother. As my Brother was given up by two of the most eminent physicians in this place, Drs. Richardson and Wregg, and when I consulted the latter, as, to the propriety of trying it on him so low, he said I might, to satisfy myself that I had left nothing untried, but he did not think that Medicine would be of any use to him. But, thank God, he was mistaken, as we saw the salutary effects in 24 hours, and in ten days he was able to be out of bed.

I remain yours, very truly and gratefully, Wm. Bailly. WM. H. LIPPITT, Prepared and sold by Wilmington, N. 240-1m-taw-41-6m
